School Board Approves Teachers' Pay Proposal

3 Board Spots Up For Grabs

Five men have filed for election to the Canyon Independent School District board of trustees. Three board members, whose terms expire this year, will seek reelection and two men, both residents of south Amarillo, have filed for the 3-year term.

Seeking re-election are Jerry LaGrone, board president; and Joe Gill and Wesley Cox. All three incumbents are from Canyon.

Also filing Tuesday night at the regular board meeting were Robert A. Rinehart and George Caviness, both of south Amarillo.

LaGrone, seeking reelection for his second term, is funeral director of LaGrone Funeral Chapel in Canyon. He was born in Comanche Oct. 10, 1930. He attended Clarendon Junior College following graduation from high school, and then entered the Dallas Institute of Mortuary Science, where he graduated in 1950.

He married Gladys Emmon in 1953, and the couple has three children, Nancy, Phillip and George.

Wesley Cox, an area farmer and rancher, was born in Lockney in 1919. He was 13 years old when the family moved to Canyon and he graduated from CHS in 1936. He graduated from Abilene Christian College in 1940, and married Dixie Billingsley the same year.

The couple has three children, George, Barry and Susan. He has served on the board one term.

George Caviness of 5009 Arden Road, Amarillo, filed with Superintendent Huey Laycock Tuesday night for a position on the board.

Caviness was born in Memphis and attended high school in Causey, New Mexico. Following graduation he came to Canyon where he attended West Texas State. He graduated in the summer of 1937 with a Bachelor of Science degree.

He spent several years as a teacher in the Panhandle area, (See 3, Page 9)

Before coming to Canyon in the early 1950's LaGrone worked in Clarendon and Amarillo.

Joe Gill, a Canyon farmer, was born in Groom in 1921. The family moved to Canyon in 1927, and he graduated from Canyon High School in 1939.

Gill entered the Army that year and served with the infantry in Europe and the United States for five years.

He married in 1941, and the couple has three children. He is completing his first term as a school trustee.

Wesley Cox, an area farmer and rancher, was born in Lockney in 1919. He was 13 years old when the family moved to Canyon and he graduated from CHS in 1936. He graduated from Abilene Christian College in 1940, and married Dixie Billingsley the same year.

Court Takes No Action On Petition

Commissioner Clarence Beckman's motion that commissioners court sign a petition to put control of irrigation gas rates under jurisdiction of the Railroad Commission died for lack of a second Monday.

Beckman made the motion after commissioners court had heard arguments both from Pioneer Natural Gas representatives and representatives of Plains Irrigation Gas Users Association.

The matter is slated to go before the Texas legislature.

The petition was presented last week by Don Olson, Canyon farmer and president of Randall County Cooperative Society which is a group of irrigation gas users.

Spokesman for Pioneer Gas Company was K. Bert Watson, an Amarillo attorney representing that firm. John Aiken, Hereford attorney, represented the farm group.

Jay Boston, Hereford, president of the Deaf Smith gas users association, and Bruce Parr, Friona, president of the Panhandle County group, also spoke briefly.

Parr said no personalities were involved but that it was only a matter of dollars and cents.

Spokesmen for the gas users said they are served by a monopoly and are merely seeking some place to go in case they think gas rates are too high.

Watson contended that his company's rates are fair and reasonable.

TSTA Plan Favored Above Governor's

Board of trustees of the Canyon Independent School District endorsed in effect a plan for teacher salary increases offered by the Texas State Teachers Association (TSTA) Tuesday night.

The action came as school board members answered a questionnaire for a survey of school board attitudes toward proposed education legislation.

The survey is being made by the Texas Committee of Ten, a special projects committee of the Texas Association of School Boards and the Texas Association of School Administrators.

The results of the survey will be passed on to the governor and the 59th Legislature.

The school board indicated it favored the TSTA plan for teacher salary increases over one presented by Gov. John Connally in his message to the legislature. Superintendent Huey Laycock gave a summary of the effect of both plans on local district finances.

Laycock said that under the governor's plan, teacher salary increases next year would average $184, or a total of over $16,000 in the local district.

He pointed out that the governor's plan also called for local districts to pay 20 per cent of the cost of textbooks. Invoices to Canyon schools this school year show textbooks cost over $11,000, so the 20 per cent cost locally would be over $2,000.

Local districts would also be required, under the governor's plan, to pay 20 per cent of what is presently the state's half share of the teacher retirement program.

Teachers from this district last year paid over $37,000 into the retirement fund. The district's share of the state's matching funds would be over $7,000, Laycock said.

Local districts traditionally pay 20 per cent of the cost of salary increases and this would be continued under the governor's plan. Of the approximately $16,000 in salary increases, the local district would have to pay over $3,000.

The local district would then have paid over $12,000 to receive salary increases of $16,000, Laycock said, while the state contributed less than

Flu Hits Canyon Schools

The flu bug hit Canyon schools this week.

Some 226 students failed to show up for class Monday as absences because of illness peaked. Attendance was climbing back to normal at mid-week.

Elementary school was hardest hit numerically. Principal Oscar Hinger said 135 youngsters were absent Monday.

"It hurt our average daily attendance," the principal declared. Average daily attendance is the factor on which state aid for schools is computed.

He said Monday's figure was 4 to 5 percent above normal. Hinger pointed out that elementary students seem more susceptible to such childhood diseases as measles, mumps and other Flirting Is Unlawful!

City Laws Due For Change

BY CLAUDE WALBERT
It's against the law to flirt in Canyon.

The city's "Masher Ordinance" was passed Jan. 3, 1921, and it says:

"It shall be unlawful for any person by word, sign or act to flirt, or attempt to flirt with another person then and there not being the husband or wife of such person, upon any street or in any public place within the corporate limits of the city."

The ordinance defines flirting as "any word, sign, act or motion uttered or made by any person towards another with the intention of...attracting such other person's attention for the purpose of playing at courtship."

Further in the ordinance is stated the reason for it:

"Certain persons upon the streets of Canyon, Texas, have been and are now flirting with, annoying, harrassing and embarrassing young ladies."

The four thick volumes containing the minutes of Canyon's city council meetings are filled with city laws that appear equally strange today.

The volumes, written sometimes in a clear, simple hand, sometimes in flowing script

City Still Selling Refuse Cans

Monday, March 1, is deadline for Canyon residents to buy refuse cans from the city at $3.10.

Cans, which meet standards in a new city ordinance, will be on sale in the City Hall until Mar. 1 at the reduced price. After that date citizens must purchase cans from retail stores at the regular price.

Cans purchased before the deadline will be delivered to homes. Old trash cans will be picked up by the city.

that is beautiful but hard to decipher, have hand-written indexes.

But an attorney needs patience and good eyesight to research Canyon's statutes.

To eliminate this problem of inadequate or outmoded laws, city manager Dewey Bryant says, the city hopes to include funds for codification of city laws in the next budget.

The result of the planned codification would be a printed, indexed volume. An arrangement would be made for printing future ordinances.

FROM THE

CANYON RIM

With young Americans dying in Viet Nam, isn't it about time for this country to begin accepting the advice of its military men on military questions again?

When Harry Truman fired Douglas MacArthur during the Korean conflict, we deviated from that time-honored custom and we haven't won a military victory since.

MacArthur executed a brilliant invasion at Inchon and raced northward to the Chosin Reservoir on the Manchurian border. Then from sanctuary beyond the Yalu River, red hordes of Communist China fell upon our troops.

MacArthur wanted to hit red supply depots in Manchuria. He had the fire power to do it. He was denied use of that fire power.

This country accepted a bloody stalemate—a shameful excuse for the victory we could have won if we had listened to Douglas MacArthur. An uneasy armistice still hangs over White Horse Mountain and Heartbreak Ridge 15 years after North Korean Communists crossed the 38th parallel and precipitated the Korean War.

Failure to accept advice of military men on military problems has reached an all-time peak under the present Secretary of Defense, Robert McNamara.

McNamara apparently had rather depend upon computers and civilian analysts than upon the experience of men trained since youth in the art of this country's defense. These analysts, to quote one writer, are on the whole free-wheeling young men who regard the most sacred concepts of the military profession with skepticism, and what they please to call the "military mind" with unconcealed disdain.

We readily agree that the military should be subject to civilian control but we strongly contend that the advice of military men should be heavily weighed in councils of war.

Last Thursday night we attended a basketball game at Canyon High School. While we were engrossed in the contest, someone made off with our new fedora which we had nonchalantly tossed on the hat rack outside the gym door.

We took quite a ribbing from some present.

One thing we'd like to point out is that our top piece was alongside the lids of A.W. Lair, Huey Laycock and J.E. Miller and the person unknown who took our chapeau didn't give theirs a second glance.

The Girl Scouts are about to build a new building. There's some talk of trying to obtain a tract of land, in or near town, big enough for the Girl Scouts' annual day camp.

We hope something comes of it.

If the meek are smart, they'll put off inheriting the earth just as long as they can.

MEANDERING WITH MARGO

At a banquet recently several teachers were discussing the Governor's pay raise plan for school instructors.

The topic hit a snag when the question arose as to how Texas ranked among the other 50 states..teacher salary wise. One person said 37th, another said 35th, and still another argued 41st.

Finally one man said, "Well, we are number one in high-ways."

"Yes, and we may hit them soon too," retorted an apparently disgruntled teacher from across the room.

My sister used a friend's cabin recently in Ruidoso, and to hear her tales of the week-long stay in the mountains is worth the time.

Karen arrived during the day, and had some trouble even reaching the cabin, which is off main street only two blocks.. straight up a mountain.

She recalls that she had to make four runs at it before her large car would plow through the stacked up snow.

Once inside the roomy home-away-from-home she learned she must have a plumber..the water was off and the furnace needed lighting.

So back down the mountain and to a plumbers' door. The friendly man was a big help, he got water running..after first calling the electric company to come and unthaw the water pipes underneath the ground, which run straight down the mountain.

Finally by nightfall all was cozy and warm in the cabin, and prospects for a lovely week seemed to be ahead.

Karen trotted off to bed, but by 3 a.m. she awoke. She was suddenly very cold, and needed a drink of water.

So off to the kitchen she groped..and yes, no water, and further more, no heat.

"I think the electric blanket was off too, the only thing left to do was go back to sleep and wait until morning."

But things didn't look much brighter when dawn broke. She wandered around in the house, wrapped in a blanket for awhile, but decided that was the coward's way out.

So she bundled up, grabbed a bucket and dashed outside. She returned with a bucketful of snow, turned the oven on and warmed water for coffee.

After a liquid breakfast she dashed back outside for another bit of snow, and followed—a bath.

Karen did learn one thing. When things get that cold there is no way to keep pipes from freezing up.

After a week in the non-winterized cabin, she did comment that her next stay would be during the warm summer months when water runs freely and furnaces aren't needed.

Miss Gwen Hafer, Cawthon Wed In Sunday Nuptials

In an afternoon ceremony performed Sunday, Feb. 14, Miss Gwendolyn Hafer became the bride of Billy Delmar Cawthon.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. John H. Taulman of Canyon and Charles K. Hafer of Odessa. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Billy Doyle Cawthon of Canyon.

Rev. Newton Starnes, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Canyon, officiated at the double ring ceremony, read in the home of the bride before a background of candelabra holding white tapers, and floral arrangements of white gladioli and red carnations.

Attending the bride was Miss Nancy Meyer of Canyon. She wore a suit of red textured wool and a hat of red velvet with a halo veil. Her bouquet was a nosegay of white carnations trimmed in red.

Candlelighters were Diane Williams, cousin of the bride, and Vance Cawthon, brother of the groom.

The bride was given in marriage by John H. Taulman. She chose a street-length gown of white chiffon over net and her fitted lace bodice featured tapered sleeves extending to the hands. A coronet formed of white seed pearls held her short veil of nylon net, and she carried a cascade bouquet of fringed white carnations atop a white satin covered Bible.

A reception followed the ceremony in the home of the bride. Guests were served from a table covered with a white cutwork cloth with red taffeta underlay, and centered with an arrangement of white gladioli and red carnations, highlighted with interlocking hearts. Serving at the bride's table were Mrs. Gordon Williams, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Ronnie Sweet, sister of the groom.

For her going-away outfit, the bride chose a red knit suit with black accessories, with the corsage lifted from her bridal bouquet.

The ceremony was attended by relatives and close friends of the couple. Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mitchell and family of Amarillo, the aunt and uncle of the groom, and Mr. and Mrs. A.A. Thurmon of Amarillo, grandparents of the bride.

He said that it is not the duty of commissioners court to set gas rates and that the dispute between gas users and the gas company is not a matter to be considered by commissioners court.

"I just wish Pioneer had brought us a petition too so we could have turned it down," Jones said. "If we start mixing in on the price of gas we could be asked about fertilizer next." Decision on the city's fire fighting contract with the county was delayed until a later date. The contract expires March 31. Gene McGlasson acted as county judge in absence of Lloyd King who was attending conference at Texas A&M.

such ailments at this season so absenteeism often is high at this particular time of year. Absences because of illness also reached a high at junior high school Monday where Principal Lawrence Brotherton said 67 were out.

School Superintendent Huelyn Laycock said it is normal for 80 to 90 students to be absent on a normal school day.

He said the number of absentees began increasing the first part of last week and reached a peak Monday of this week.

Tuesday of last week the figure reached 209, dipped to 174 on Wednesday and was at 144 on Thursday. Friday the number sank to 126 but was at a peak of 226 Monday.

"The number was down Tuesday," Laycock reported.

He said no figure was available Wednesday on attendance Tuesday of this week but that the number of absentees was fewer than on Monday.

The superintendent said he did not feel that illness ever reached an epidemic level.

City...

(Continued from Page 1) ment go hand-in-hand. Canyon was incorporated Oct. 8, 1906, the first council met held Nov. 8, and the first laws passed Dec. 7.

The first ordinance gave the city marshal or appointed policeman the power to arrest suspicious persons without a warrant.

With the criminals in hand, the councilmen turned to money. In their second ordinance, they set an occupation tax that reveals the vanished life of that time.

Some of the occupations and taxes are: oyster saloon, $2.50; stage hack, $10; coal yard, $10; butcher shop, $5; traveling peddler selling patent medicine, $10; and "every fortune teller, clairvoyant or ventriloquist each performance, $5."

That carnivals and similar amusements were popular, and not quite approved, is evident in the $12 to $50 taxes set for:

A shooting gallery, billiard table, nine or ten pin alleys, a flying jenny, dramatic exhibitions, circus feasts, a menagerie, ledgerdemon, wax works, and "picture throwing."

The $75 tax levied on pawnbrokers was the highest charged any occupation except merchants whose annual purchase was over $100,000.

The third ordinance was also concerned with money—it required all males over 21 to pay a poll tax of $1. Those who didn't pay were to be fined from $1 to $5.

The fourth ordinance set a dog tax of $1.50, but the payer received a collar as well as a dog tag.

The aldermen, who had been elected on Nov. 3, met again Dec. 14. They passed a law that made it unlawful to throw a football, baseball or any other ball on the courthouse square or in the streets.

And they adopted a statewide law that required able-bodied males to work on the streets and roads a certain period each year.

However, the council said that men who paid $3 to the city marshal would be exempted from road work.

One of the laws passed that day left a permanent stamp on Canyon. "To guard against the calamities of fire," the ordinance said, it was forbidden to erect any wooden building, or even a wooden fence, on the blocks surrounding the courthouse square. All buildings on those blocks had to be of brick, stone, or other fire-proof material.

But Canyon's fifth ordinance was more interesting, especially in view of the seventh. The fifth set a special ad valorem tax of 25 cents per $100 valuation on property within the city for the "construction of permanent street and sewerage and such like improvements."

The seventh had to do with the sanitary facilities of the time, water closets and privies. It stated that any person would be punished who permitted "any closet or privy to become foul or offensive to an extent that such offensive condition can be detected from the outside thereof."

Just who was to make the test wasn't stipulated, but provisions for a city scavenger were included in the ordinance. All sanitary devices had to be constructed so that the scavenger could periodically clean them and he was liable for any offense if the owner had paid him. For his work, the scavenger was allowed to collect not over 25 cents a month from private residences and not over 50 cents a trip from public places, which had to be visited twice a month.

The council, perhaps to mollify the person appointed as scavenger, gave him the full power of a policeman.

But April 10, 1911, evidently enough money had been collected from the special tax for the construction of a sewer system, for a lengthy sewer ordinance was passed.

It probably came as more of a relief to the scavenger than to homeowners.

Under the TSTA plan, Laycock said, across-the-board raises of $405 would be made, bringing a total salary increase of over $35,000 to the district. The TSTA plan calls for the continuation of the traditional 80 per cent state, 20 per cent local sharing of education costs and proposes no changes in state contributions to the retirement or textbook system.

The local district would then pay slightly over $7,000 for the $35,000 increase and the state would pay over $28,000.

Laycock said that the local district had only one source of revenue, the ad valorem taxes, while the state has many sources of revenue.

In answering the questionnaire, the board members said they believed minimum salaries for teachers should be increased $405 a year, the amount proposed by TSTA.

The board said no to a questionnaire proposal that the state should provide funds only to districts which will use them for merit salary increases, a suggestion backed by the Texas Manufacturers Association.

The board also said no to a proposal for a teacher tenure law, which after a trial period would prevent dismissal of a teacher except for immorality or gross misconduct. This has been supported by the Texas AFL-CIO.

The board said no to a proposal to add provisions for sick leave to the state-supported Minimum Foundation School Program. A TSTA-backed version of this proposal will face a vote in the 59th Legislature.

The board also set a school board election April 3. Three board members will be up for election.

Two balloting places will be used, one Canyon's American Legion Hall, the second house to be furnished by Earl E. Marrs near the site of the planned elementary school in south Amarillo.

The election judges named by the board are C.M. Purcell and A.L. Crossland.

Cowboys Capture 2nd Place

Happy Cowboys capped second place in District 1-B tilts Friday night by downing Hart 70-58.

Larry Payne bagged 20 points to lead his teammates to their 6-2 district season.

The Cowboys hit 41 per cent from the field, and had a sparkling 55 per cent from the free throw line.

The Cowgirls also had a winning night Friday as they dropped the Hart girls 40-32. Dixie McGehee made 22 points to lead both teams in scoring.

From the gratis line the girls hit a 55 per cent, and from the field they had a 38 per cent.

The girls ended in fourth place in the district with a 3-5 district season.

Coach Bill Tennison noted that next year two starters and an alternate starter will be returning next year for the Cowboys team.

Prospects look dim for the girls however. Only one starter and an alternate starter will be eligible for return next year.

Youth Center Opens March 1

Formal opening of the Canyon Youth Center will be Monday, Mar. 1, according to owner Stan Lair.

Lair said this week that the center is open now, but much work is still being done to the interior.

When the center opens officially, students ranging in ages from 6 to 18 years of age will be eligible for membership, which is $12 per year.

"We want to keep the membership price as low as possible so anyone who wants to can belong," Lair urged.

Various activities will be provided for students joining the center which is located at 416 5th Street. Dancing area with a juke box will be located in one portion of the building. A gymnastics area will be next to the dance floor. A trampoline, tumbling mats, weights, and ping pong tables will take up the gymnastics area.

Game machines will be located in the front of the structure with bunker pool, shuffle board tables and several other games for members.

Art Show Features Canyon Policeman

An art show featuring work by Raymond Reynolds of Canyon will begin Sunday afternoon in the Fine Arts Building at West Texas State University. A reception will be held from 2-5 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 21 in the FAB lounge to begin the show.

The drawings will remain up for around three weeks, according to Emilio Caballero, head of the art department.

Reynolds, a lieutenant in the Canyon police department, was born in Clarendon in 1931. He attended grade school in Clarendon then moved with his family to Amarillo, where he attended high school.

He married Dolores Archer and the couple has five children, Cindy, Denny, John, Rex, and Sam.

Reynolds was reared on a front, Lair has made a television room. Furniture will be put into the room so members may relax in front of the TV set.

"Later we will have a snack bar, and a library and reading area. Then we plan to have a crafts room for hand work," Lair explained.

He also mentioned a possible added program of athletics for boys and girls.

"We are keeping the membership cost at a minimum. Then some of the extra activities we may add will cost extra. Our point is that people not interested in say, dancing lessons, won't have to pay for them unless they take them," he continued.

The center will be open Monday through Friday from 3:30 to 9 p.m. and on Saturdays from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.

"The center will not be open during school hours," Lair noted.

Before joining the police force in Canyon, he served as an Amarillo policeman for four years.

On show beginning Sunday will be 30 pen and ink drawings which depict the Southwestern scene.

"His drawings are of cowboys and the western scene," said Caballero.

Reynolds drew special Christmas cards for the Yuletide season and says, "I draw every free moment I have."

"His drawings are original. He has had experience with the western way of life, and when he draws he knows about his subject," Caballero noted.

The public is invited to the reception, where drawings will be on sale.

FFA Week Set February 22-27

Future Farmers of America at Canyon High School will celebrate their 29th birthday next week during National FFA Week.

The boys plan special programs, exhibits and shows Feb. 22-27 during FFA Week. This year is the 29th year for the FFA organization in Canyon. The national organization was begun in November, 1928.

Carroll Duncan, Canyon FFA sponsor, said the week will begin with sophomore members wearing ties, slacks and FFA jackets to class Monday.

Tuesday the FFA officers will dress in the same style and Wednesday juniors will wear the official attire. Thursday will be senior's day for the special dress and Friday the entire organization will appear in dress slacks, ties and jackets.

A large birthday cake will be displayed in the First National Bank of Canyon with a special birthday card built behind it. Boys constructing the cake are Kyle Powers, Bill Richey, George Cox, Barry Lindsey, Kenneth Friemel, Jerry Erdman, Troy Roach and Larry Wesley.

The boys will also make a television appearance on the Jack Thompson Show next week. FFA members will discuss activities of the organization during a 15-minute radio program Friday, Feb. 26 at 8:30 a.m. on KCAN.

Posters will be put up by members, and booklets and pamphlets will be placed in local stores explaining the activities of FFA.

Second Place In District For Females

The Canyon High School girls basketball team ended the season with a 3-3 district record, good for second place, and a 12-9 overall record.

Playing without Linda Parker, who had an operation Friday night, Canyon lost the final game of the year Tuesday night to Julia by a 58-45 score.

Coach Royce Elam said the team, with two regulars on the verge of illness, scored only two points the second quarter.

Jan Jarnagin hit 19 points for the losers and Cynthia Gerald hit 17.

Canyon hit 30 per cent from the field and 61 per cent from the free throw line. Julia had 50 per cent from the field and 69 per cent from the free throw line.

The girls grabbed 16 rebounds, lost the ball 14 times, recovered 12, and had eight assists.

In a 57-45 winning effort against Sanford-Fritch last week, the Canyon girls hit 40 per cent from the field and 58 per cent from the foul line.

Cynthia Gerald had 26 points. Linda Gill and Peggy Price, who played an outstanding defensive game, grabbed six and nine rebounds, respectively.

HONORS WERE given Saturday during the Happy Future Homemakers of America annual Sweetheart Banquet. Leonida Thornton and Sara Sims were recognized as rating in the top 10 per cent of the nation in Betty Crocker national contests. Miss Sims, second from left, was named Betty Crocker Cook of HHS. Willa Jane Elliott, center, is president of the local chapter and presided at the banquet. Jim McManigal was crowned by Ann McNeil, right, as FHA Beau.

Sara Sims Named Happy Betty Crocker Homemaker

Sara Sims was named Betty Crocker Homemaker of Happy High School at the annual FHA Sweetheart Banquet Saturday night.

Miss Sims was honored with a Betty Crocker pin presented by Mrs. Lee Moore, Future Homemaker of America sponsor at Happy.

Leonida Thornton and Miss Sims ranked in the top 10 per cent of the nation in tests given last fall by the Betty Crocker Company.

Miss Lydia Miller, teacher in the Happy Public Schools, was guest speaker at the banquet. Miss Miller spoke on "Discovering Myself and My Worth To Others."

"Man can not exist in his world unless he finds himself. He can not do good for others unless he finds himself. Man has no perspective unless he finds himself."

"Man is a creature with a soul and until he finds his soul he remains an animal."

"The search is long and hard, and few people try."

"People find it easier to point out the faults of others, than to look at their own selves," Miss Miller explained.

She continued by noting that the way to find one's own self is to find one's own capabilities, strengths and weaknesses.

"To Thine Ownself Be True". William Shakespeare once wrote that, and it is the basis from which we can begin.

"We must learn from our own experiences, but we can also learn from those who have gone before."

"We've heard about the 'school of hard knocks.' Those people who are from the school of hard knocks are ones who command our utmost respect."

"They are willing to admit wrong, they are generous with virtues and ideas, they are deeply moved by the beauties of life, and they are quick to share their joys. They are courageous, honest and respected. This person is a person we would like to be. And whether he knows it or not, he helps us discover ourself."

"There is no set pattern to follow in discovering one's self. The road to discovery is different for each individual, but once the road is found it must be followed."

"Each road is a link in the chain of life. The chain may be broken, but it will never be destroyed," she concluded.

Willa Jane Elliott, president of the local chapter, presided at the banquet. Sam Bryan, superintendent, gave the invocation, and Jim McManigal gave the response.

Ann McNeil crowned the FHA Beau, Jim McManigal.

Entertainment included a quartet consisting of Janie McManigal, Angela Airhart, Jerry Don Danner and McManigal. Carroll Killingsworth, principal of the high school, also was on the entertainment program. The Lyrics, a local band, also provided music at the banquet.

More Blood Requested

Donors for blood are still needed badly at the Amarillo Memorial Blood Bank.

Residents of Canyon, who were first requested to donate blood several weeks ago in the name of Robert Glazner, a former Canyon resident, have so far responded with donations of 30 pints.

Mr. Glazner died following open heart surgery Jan. 25 in John Sealy Hospital in Galveston.

However, about 18 pints of blood are still needed to fulfill the debt. A total of 22 pints of blood was used in the surgery, and two pints must be given for each pint used. The Glazner family will have to pay for the remaining blood if 44 pints are not donated by friends and neighbors of the family by Feb. 25.

The blood must be repaid within 30 days. Everyone is urged to go to the blood center, and tell them who the blood given is for. Persons should not have eaten within four hours of giving blood, but may have coffee or water.

Persons with any blood type may give blood since the center operates on an exchange basis.

Scout Cookie Sale Beginning Tomorrow

The week-long sale of Girl Scout cookies will begin tomorrow, Feb. 19, as Canyon Girl Scouts begin taking orders for the yummy goodies.

Proceeds from the annual door-to-door drive will go into the building fund, with the ultimate goal a new building for Girl Scout functions.

More than 200 Brownies, and Girl Scouts will be working door-to-door selling cookies.

Cookies will be sold for 50 cents per box, and will be delivered Saturday, Feb. 27.

Scouts will receive a 50 percent profit on each box, with the remaining 25 cents going to the cookie manufacturer, according to Mrs. Dean Nicholas, chairman of the sale.

"Merchants wishing to purchase a case of cookies, but not wanting to keep all the cookies in a case, can send the remaining boxes to the Amarillo Children's Home, Girls Town, Boys Ranch, or to a church. We will deliver them anywhere the merchants wish us," Mrs. Nicholas said.

"Sale of the cookies is the only fund raising project of Canyon Girl Scouts," Mrs. Nicholas added. "All profits will be added to the building fund."

Attending a birthday celebration for Sue Cook Saturday evening were Jerry Jerman, Kay and Ross Yarbrough, Terry Gill and Donna Rutledge. The three couples celebrated the occasion with dining and dancing.

CARROLL KILLINGSWORTH provided entertainment Saturday night at the Happy Future Homemakers of America Sweetheart Banquet. Killingsworth, high school principal at Happy, impersonated Phyllis Diller during a 10-minute skit.

Eagles Close Year In Fifth Place

The Canyon High School basketball Eagles ended the season Tuesday night in fifth place with a district record of 3-7 and a season record of 12-14.

The final loss was to Tulia by a 67-53 score. The score by quarters, with the Canyon score listed first, was 9-7, 21-25, 38-46, 53-67.

Canyon hit only 26 per cent from the field and 63 per cent from the free throw line.

Tommy Higgins led the losers' scoring with 14 points. Ricky Bacon had 12, Tom Lair 11, and Joe Cox 10.

Higgins and Bacon led the team to a total of 58 rebounds. Tulia only managed to grab 38.

Coach Roy Kieval said the Canyon boys stopped Tulia's two top scorers, but the outside men started dunking the ball while Canyon was having its second consecutive cold night from the floor.

Kieval, in his first losing season, saw the Eagles hit only 28 per cent from the field during a 75-47 loss to the Dumas Demons last week.

The Eagles had 78 per cent from the foul line, but it wasn't enough to make the difference as Dumas pulled away in every quarter. The score by quarters, with Canyon listed first, was 11-9, 17-43, 22-64, and 47-75.

Higgins, one of four seniors the 12-man squad will lose, had a season total of 307 points. Lair had 332, Moore had 257, Bacon had 222, Dennis Haley had 119, and Cox had 100.

Gayle Rea Keeps Busy As 2nd VP Of Area I

Next month a year of constant letter writing, information gathering and banquet planning will end.

Gayle Rea, Canyon High School senior, has been behind all the activity, centralizing much of her work in the home-making department of the high school.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude E. Rea of Route 1, Canyon, Gayle is serving as second vice-president of Area I Future Homemakers of America.

She found that the title of her job was just a minor part of the glory. Her real pleasure came in fulfilling the duties of the office.

Born Sept. 18, 1946 in Amarillo, this active, attractive coed has held many offices in the local chapter and in the high school activities which have prepared her for her role in the area organization.

She attended school in Amarillo through her seventh grade year. Then the family came to Canyon, and Gayle began taking a dynamic part in school life.

She is presently serving as president of the National Honor Society and is editor of Soaring Wings. She is a member of Future Teachers of America along with her interest in FHA. Her favorite subject is English.

Then came March 21, 1964. Gayle was elected second vice president of the Area I organization. If she thought her life had been busy then, she had just begun her work.

Her duties were described in brief. She was to issue junior and chapter degree certificates throughout the area, and she was to plan a banquet for this March during the area meeting.

It all sounded simple, until she began to take a long look at it.

For the past several months, Gayle has been frantically trying to locate all past state degree recipients, honorary FHA members, past area and state officers and present officers of the area I.

That is the invitation list for the banquet March 19.

The banquet will be in the Coronado Room at Texas Tech with some 1,000 persons expected.

Quite a job for an 18-year old girl. But that isn't all the work.

Gayle must also plan and get the decorating done for the banquet, make sure invitations are sent, and finally plan the program.

Needless to say, this well-organized young lady has most of the work done. Members of the local FHA chapter have agreed to help with some of the tasks; the load has been lightened.

Now Gayle can concentrate on other aspects of her job.

She will be in charge of a workshop in Lubbock in June. All new and old area officers will attend; the new officers learning the functions of their office from the outgoing officers.

All outgoing area officers have been invited to attend the state meeting in Dallas in May.

"I have enjoyed my years in FHA. I have been able to do so much and learn so much. I have met so many people, and have been able to know so many people that I would not have met or known without FHA.

"I would encourage everyone to take at least one year of FHA to get to know themselves better and to set their goals in life. Through the national objective and area programs of work, girls are able to see goals that they may not have thought of before. They become aware of goals and they adopt them into their lives," Gayle explained.

Miss Rea, a state degree recipient, plans for a college degree. Her major will be in business or psychology at West Texas State, then she contemplates transferring to Texas Tech to study child development.

Any future she may plan will have benefits for this young lady with high goals.

She has had a solid background of working with people, directing and organizing. These qualities are always sought after in the business world of today.

MISS GAYLE Rea is presently serving as second vice-president of Area I in Future Homemakers of America. Gayle's main interest these days is planning a banquet for the area meeting next month where some 1,000 persons are expected. Miss Rea takes an active part in Canyon High School activities, and was recently voted "Most Versatile" of the school.

Canyon Claims FHA State President, Miss Nancy Hicks

"I think FHA has helped me more than anything I've ever done to become a more mature individual."

Sparkling little Nancy Hicks, whose 5 foot 1 inch height conceals a fountain of energy, has given the Future Homemakers of America as much as she got.

She's been chapter parliamentarian, first vice-president, and area president.

And now she's state president, the pinnacle of the state FHA organization.

Nancy Elizabeth, the 18-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L.O. Hicks, didn't come by an interest in FHA as naturally as she did her energy.

In the 8th grade, homemaking was required. Other students joined FHA and, Nancy said, "I joined because everyone else did."

Then she attended an area meeting in Lubbock. It was an eye-opener.

"The area officers there all had goals in life, they all knew what they wanted to do," she said.

Nancy returned to her home two miles west of Canyon with a determination to become an FHA officer, "to do all I could for FHA."

She was selected as area president the next year, the only freshman ever to serve in that office.

"I don't think I realized then what the duties were," Nancy said candidly.

Through speakers, panels, programs, and committee work Nancy's conception of FHA enlarged still more.

"It helps make successful adults of girls. It helps with problems that everybody faces," she said.

She ticked off some of the ways FHA helps: "You find out who you are, learn family duties, learn citizenship, and learn that education doesn't stop when you've graduated, but is endless."

Then last spring Nancy was on the long road to a state office.

A list of her qualifications for state office were submitted to the approximately 80 area voting delegates.

Nancy gives much of the credit for her selection at the area level to the members of the nominating committee.

And she likes dancing-- "What teenager doesn't?" Asked what kind of music she liked for dancing, she pantomimed playing a guitar and said:

"You know, the Beatles. The regular kind that parents don't like."

She doesn't go steady. She said, "I think it's more fun if you don't."

Nancy wants to attend Texas Tech and major in home economics or West Texas State University and major in elementary education.

In May she'll turn over her office to the next state president.

Then there will be no more of the pleasant confusion when the state officers, three of whom are named Nancy, get together.

There will be no more girls from across the country asking where Canyon is, and Nancy learning that most of them come from small towns, too, ones she had never heard of.

But there will be more time for her mother, a first grade teacher, her father, a postman, her brother Stanley and her sisters, Melissa and Mindy.

And there will be more time for work at the First Baptist Church, where, as in school, she has been active in many groups.

And, looking far ahead, she had a denial for those who say the purpose of FHA is to prepare a girl to catch a husband:

"Everything you do prepares you for marriage. If a person keeps striving to become mature, then she will have a successful marriage."

Future Teacher Guided By FHA

Rita Trimble, the 18-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Trimble of rural Canyon, has served the Canyon FHA chapter as bulletin board chairman and recording secretary.

She is also a member of the Library Club, the choir, and the Eagles Tale staff.

A senior, Rita attended schools in Joplin, Mo., and Dallas before coming to Canyon High School, where her favorite subject is homemaking and library science.

She plans to attend West Texas State University and is undecided about a major, although it will probably be education.

She says of FHA, "It has widened my knowledge and experience of relations with others. My experience has made me realize the importance of developing skills that can help me be a good homemaker and citizen. Also, it has given me a knowledge of homemaking education and I may become a homemaking teacher."

Homemaking Offers Interests For Girls

Vocational homemaking education for Canyon High School has changed a great deal since it began in 1923.

The curriculum has been evaluated and changed to meet the needs and interests of those enrolled.

Vocational homemaking education has at the present time a two-fold purpose.

The first is the betterment of family life. The second has been added by the new vocational bill that was passed by Congress in 1963.

Preparing young women (and young men when possible) for a gainful profession is the second goal. Ten per cent of all vocation class time will be delegated to this area of job training.

Learning experiences are provided in all areas of homemaking, including housing, home management, money management, home safety, clothing and textiles, food and nutrition, child development and guidance, home care of the sick, home improvement and beautification.

Instruction is based on the maturity, interests and goals of pupils enrolled.

Additional learning experiences in planning and carrying out activities related to homemaking are provided through Future Homemakers of America organizations composed of students enrolled in homemaking courses.

The programs of work and projects increase opportunities for the development of leadership and intelligent participation in family and community life.

Home experiences are required and these may be worked on in the summer for half credit.

In high school, up-to-date Homemaking II and Homemaking III are offered. Homemaking IV and Home and Family Life may be offered to seniors who have taken any homemaking.

Homemaking may be offered if as many as 10 students sign up for it. A student can not enter a Homemaking II class without the prerequisite of Homemaking I nor can a student enter Homemaking III with-

Sherre Hare Plans To Attend TCU

Sherre Hare is another senior Future Homemaker of America at Canyon High School.

Sherre's parents are Mr. and Mrs. John H. Hare of Route 2, Canyon.

She was born in Guthrie, Oklahoma and attended Amarillo public schools and schools in California before coming to Canyon.

She picks homemaking as her favorite subject, and she has served as sergeant at arms in the FHA local chapter.

Other activities that keep this young lady busy are Rainbows, the Randall County Sheriff's Posse, band, and the foreign language club.

Miss Hare plans to attend Texas Christian University in Fort Worth and will major in speech or music.

out having the first two courses.

Each class is scheduled for one 55-minute period daily.

Homemaking II provides opportunity for students to gain knowledge which contributes to an increased understanding of self, family and friends, and skills in decision making and in assuming responsibilities with less dependence on adults.

The course includes learning experiences to meet the needs and interests of the age group (usually 15 years of age) in the areas of family housing, foods, clothing, relations, health, care of the sick and child care.

Other study areas include management of home activities, home improvement, arrangement and use of equipment and furnishings, safety practices in the use and care of household equipment.

Plans for meeting personal wardrobe needs, purchase of satisfactory clothes, natural and manmade fabrics requiring special treatment, construction problems, care of clothing, managing skills in grooming and selection of clothing, are still other fields.

"Careers are offered in every field of homemaking, and we have only mentioned a very few of them. Girls find interest in all areas of homemaking," says Mrs. Clara Long, high school homemaking instructor.

Citizenship Is Learned

Patricia Le Grand, the 18-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J.A. Le Grand of rural Amarillo, has served as FHA sergeant-at-arms and historian, and is a state degree applicant this year.

A senior, she is also a member of the band, Future Teachers of America, and the National Honor Society.

Patricia plans to study automation administration at Western Republic College.

She says, "FHA has made me recognize my responsibilities as a citizen now and in the future."

She is working on her State Degree.

Respect, Faith Gained In FHA

Jean Robinson, the 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Robinson of rural Happy, says her favorite subject is business and that she plans to study business at West Texas State University.

She has served as historian in FHA and is a member of the Future Teachers of America and the choir.

Jean a senior, describes her experience in FHA this way:

"FHA has helped me to become a better student and to respect the wishes of others. It has taught me how to accept responsibility and to help others when they need it. Through FHA I have learned to have faith in and to trust my fellow man."

Mrs. Clara Long Finds FHA Work Challenging

BY CLAUDE WALBERT

A self-described "Texas gypsy" is Mrs. Clara Long, Canyon High School's homemaking teacher for 13 years.

But perhaps she has just been making up for her ancestors' long stay in San Saba County. They settled there long before Texas became a state.

In fact, a grandfather on one side donated the townsite and one of the other side gave water rights at a spring for what is now Richland Springs.

And Mrs. Long's career has been as varied as her place of residence--she's taught every grade level and almost any subject you can think of, and has been a prize-winning home demonstration agent in several counties.

But she never found a place she likes as much as Canyon, where "the people are friendly, but let you lead your own life. And they are less formal than I have found in some parts of the state."

And she likes the climate in Canyon, "with the wind and the snow and the hot summer days and the cool nights."

Mrs. Long was born and grew up on her father's farm near Richland Springs. The log cabin in which she was born was one of the first houses in what is now San Saba county.

She said that when her ancestors moved there, Indians were so thick that the women and children were sent back to Arkansas until the country was more settled.

She was the eldest of seven children, two girls and five boys. Two of her brothers now live in California and three in Amarillo, while her sister lives in Wichita Falls.

Because she was the oldest, Mrs. Long said, "I thought I was boss--but I sometimes found out I wasn't."

She said she had done every kind of farm work and was always proud when she chopped more cotton than anyone else, or picked more.

"But my back sure hurt," she added.

Although she learned to use a plow as well as any man could, Mrs. Long found time for fun.

"We went to square dances. Of course we walked or rode, but everybody did then," she said.

"I guess I was a typical teenager," Mrs. Long said. "You know, parents and children still have disagreements about dating. Well, my parents didn't want me to date until I was 16. I got in trouble sometimes."

Mrs. Long said she started school at the age of 4. She said, "My mother thought everybody should go to school early."

She graduated from high school at Richland Springs and was in college at 16. Away from the friendly town, the farm with fresh fruits and vegetables, the close family, she cried and wanted to go home.

But her mother told her, she said, that she was a young woman and should behave like one; she might not have another opportunity to attend college.

It wasn't long before she was caught up in the activities of Mary Hardin-Baylor College in Belton.

"It was much bigger then," Mrs. Long said. "There were 400 freshmen, more than the other classes combined. We always voted together to get our cause."

She still recalls the rebellion that she, and other students, felt when told they had to march to church.

The line of students marching two-by-two stretched for blocks, but church attendance was required. Restriction to the campus was the penalty for those who missed church.

Mrs. Long soon found that she could teach in the winter and attend school in the summer.

"At my first school," she said, "I was younger than some of my students. I told them I was 21. I didn't have any trouble."

In 1936 Mrs. Long took a bachelors degree in social science from Mary Hardin-Baylor and a bachelors in homemaking and foods from Texas Woman's University in Denton.

She taught for a while, but liked home demonstration work so much that she served as agent in Callahan, Jones, and Hunt County.

But, she said, more and more she was coming to realize that working with teenagers gave her more satisfaction than working with adults.

Then came the war. Mrs. Long married in 1942. Her husband was barely back safely, and the two of them again attending college, before he was killed in an automobile accident.

Mrs. Long, now with a son to support, finished her masters degree at Texas Woman's University and went back to home demonstration work.

However, she felt that the daily journeys her work required caused her to be away from her son too much.

So it was back to teaching, in Port Neches and then in Commerce.

But in 1952, while attending a teachers convention, she saw a notice: "If you want to teach in West Texas, call Joe Gibson in Canyon."

"I had been through Canyon," Mrs. Long said, "but I never dreamed I'd teach here."

She said her first look at the plains left her with an impression of barrenness, "but somehow it was clean-looking."

Mrs. Long made the call to Canyon. Two weeks later she was in Canyon.

This busy woman, who has at last found a home, in addition to all her other skills brought to Canyon certificates that show she is qualified to teach first aid, homemaking, and civil defense.

Of her teaching here, she said, "I teach what I would like a daughter of mine to know."

She added, "I find a greater spiritual attitude in Canyon than in any place I've taught. It speaks well of the churches and parents."

Teachers On The Go

Homemaking instructors throughout Texas are kept busy year-round attending workshops, conventions, meetings and helping their girls on local levels.

Mrs. Clara Long, Canyon FHA sponsor, is no exception.

Mrs. Long participates in the Homemaking Teachers Workshop held each spring. Teachers in the area listen to speakers from each area of homemaking talk of new ideas in the homemaking field.

Mrs. Long spoke to teachers at the last workshop in Dimmitt about FHA activities on the area, state and national levels.

A state homemaking teachers workshop will be held in August for teachers throughout the state. According to Mrs. Long, this workshop is concerned with educational values taught in classes. Teachers are brought up to date on the latest developments in fields of homemaking.

Mrs. Long is a director of the Vocational Homemakers Teachers Association and attended a director's meeting in Austin last fall.

MRS. CLARA LONG, homemaking instructor at Canyon High School, works hours and hours each day and week to help the girls taking homemaking classes and those in Future Homemakers of America. Mrs. Long is shown here with her corsage and plaque she received last month when she was named Teacher of The Month at CHS.

Home, School Duties Taught

Andrea Lair, the 18-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T.H. Lair of 2423 9th Avenue, has served the Canyon FHA chapter as parliamentarian and on banquet committees dealing with decorations for three years.

She is also a member of Future Teachers of America, Foreign Language Club, Art Club, and Drama Club.

A senior, Andrea lists her favorite subject as art.

She plans to attend Texas Tech to major in art or English.

She says, "FHA has prepared me for accepting responsibilities in my home and at school. It is a wonderful experience for any girl to take part in this closely knit organization."

FHA Magazine Offers Ideas

A national magazine is published for Future Homemakers of America four times yearly.

Teen Times offers ideas and suggestions for programs, and tells of the annual national meeting.

The state newspaper is published in October, January and May, and brings activities from different area chapters for each paper.

Each area must send news from that district at certain times of the year. Therefore, each issue carries news from various areas.

YHT Another Group Of Local Women

Young women in Canyon are not left completely out as far as learning techniques in homemaking.

Through a relatively new organization, Young Homemakers of Texas, women not attending high school and under 36 years of age, are given a chance to develop homemaking skills.

Under the guidance of Mrs. Clara Long of Canyon, these young women meet every third Tuesday evening in the high school homemaking department.

A program of home and family life education is offered to these women with individual instruction in the home and community also available.

Through the state association of YHT, young women work toward several goals with various projects in mind.

Objectives of the organization include developing skills, gaining information on new and improved methods of homemaking, and keeping informed on matters affecting people engaged in homemaking.

Also on the project list is the development of deeper understanding of the home and its influence upon the community, and planning and carrying out activities designed to improve home and community life.

The final two objectives may be the most important to the group.

They include maintaining spiritual values of the home, and encouraging democracy in home and community life.

Mrs. James Bible, president of the local group, has extended an open invitation to young women of the community to join the Young Homemakers of Texas organization in Canyon.

Young Homemakers of Texas are another phase of the work being conducted by the Education Commission of the state. Mrs. Clara Long, high school FHA sponsor, also sponsors this group of Canyon women. Mrs. James Bible, left, is president of the organization. Mrs. Roger Dugan is secretary-treasurer and Mrs. Ben Abbott, right, is vice-president.

Life Outlook Helped By FHA

Diane Jester, the 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M.T. McLain of Amarillo, lists her favorite subject in Canyon High School as homemaking.

The dedicated FHA member is also a member of the band and choir.

She plans to attend a business college to study business and its management as preparation for a business career.

She says, "FHA has broadened my outlook on life. It has helped me realize that there is a need for good management and leadership. The home is the beginning of a nation; what is taught there is the beginning of citizens and leaders."

Career Choice Learned In FHA

Beth Jarrett, the 18-year-old daughter of Dr. and Mrs. R.P. Jarrett of 2420 7th Avenue, has served the Canyon FHA chapter as 1st vice-president, 4th vice-president, and two years as president. She is a state degree applicant this year. She is also a member of the Future Teachers of America and the Eagle Band.

A senior, Beth lists math as her favorite subject.

She would like to attend Trinity University or Texas Tech to major in elementary education or library science.

She says, "I believe that FHA has helped me to realize what I want to do in the future. Through our homemaking classes and FHA meetings, I have been given the opportunity to find out about several different fields for a career."

of other FHA members and their favorite pops, and Mother-Daughter Supper, a get-together that gives mothers an insight into the organization, highlight the year's activities for FHA girls.

The annual FHA Banquet, which was held last Saturday night, helps girls recognize self improvement, development and popularity.

In the summer, educational field trips to develop certain purposes are planned to keep the members alert and interested.

Planning groups meet in the summer to organize for the next year.

And the girls add much to their school, community and world during the year.

Local FHA chapter has helped to buy machines for students in India, Pakistan and Formosa, which are used in those lands in high schools.

Some of the projects once participated in have been dropped by the local chapter because, according to Mrs. Clara Long, of controversy over standards the organizations in other lands have had.

Open houses have been sponsored for the public to inspect facilities in the department.

An annual Christmas and Valentine tea are given in December and February by FHA members. These affairs are planned, arranged and carried out by the girls.

Style shows are regular affairs in the department. These shows give girls poise, confidence and appreciation. With help from local department stores, the girls are able to duplicate a fashionable center for their local shows.

Installation of new officers is another highlight for the FHA members.

The ceremony is formal and creates in both new and old officers the responsibilities which have been carried out and others to be developed.

"Few officers would miss this activity," says FHA members.

And then comes the initiation of new members in a formal ceremony.

In the simple, but beautiful, rites, new members learn what the organization means and the dignity which accompanies the title of Future Homemaker of America.

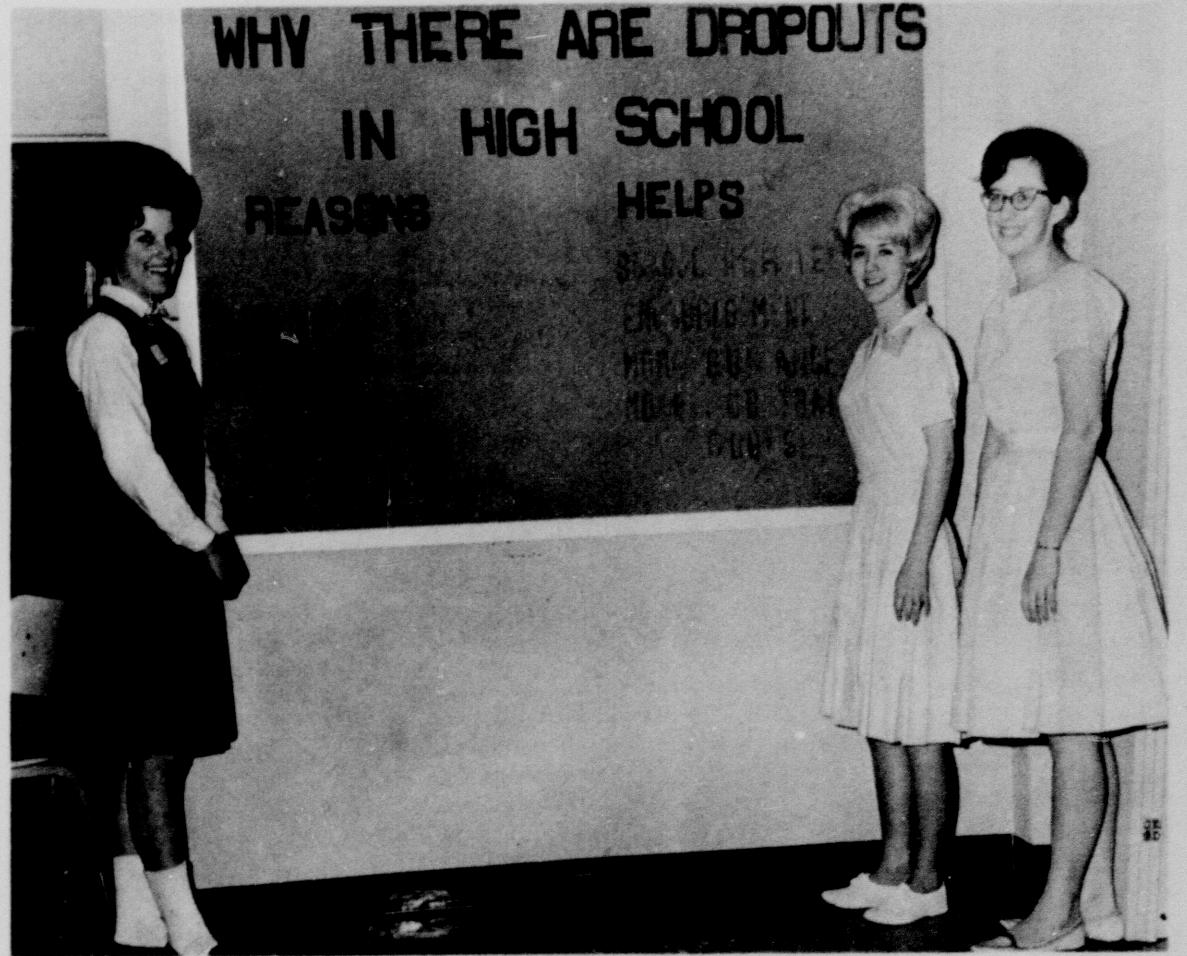

Clara B. Long VHTAT Director

Clara B. Long, homemaking teacher at Canyon High School, is serving as a director for the new organization, Vocational Homemaking Teachers Association of Texas.

This is the second year of operation for the association that was founded at the state in-service education conference in Dallas in 1963.

Some of the purposes of VHTAT are to promote the interests of active teachers of vocational homemaking education, to encourage higher standards of teaching, to cooperate with other agencies association with the homemaking program of work, and to promote better public relations for the broad program of homemaking education.

Mrs. Long is one of 14 directors on the board.

Outside Help Big Factor For FHA's

Since it's recorded beginning in 1952, Canyon High School chapter of Future Homemakers of America has had special help from various local, state and national figures.

Speakers representing every field of interest have spoken to classes at CHS, and have emphasized various objectives of the FHA members.

Dr. J.A. Hill of Canyon spoke in 1952 to a class about the workings of the United Nations.

Helen Poe, counselor administrator, spoke to CHS girls on conditions seen and experienced in Russia. She also described conditions in countries behind the Iron Curtain.

Ministers of various local churches have brought messages on values and standards.

Mothers and former FHA members have also given talks to the girls during the years.

First aid classes have been taught and certificates given to those finishing the course and films have been shown in this area, along with films on cancer and other diseases.

Civil defense classes have been given, films shown on natural and manmade disasters and what to do to protect individuals during such crisis.

Doctors in the area have appeared before groups to discuss nutrition and the importance of right foods for health.

Nearly every exchange student at Canyon High School has talked with the girls explaining ways of life, clothing changes, and other topics of interest which vary from country to country.

Outside help has been a large factor in the growth and advancement of the local FHA chapter.

Pam Stevens takes some saucers from Sharon Allen as the girls prepare to set a table for one of the many teas they hostess during the school year.

Values Taught In Homemaking

Judy Steward, the 18-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Barnett Steward of 1106 9th Avenue, says her favorite subjects are government and chemistry.

In addition to FHA, she is a member of Future Teachers of America.

Before entering Canyon school, Judy attended elementary and junior high school in Amarillo.

A senior, she plans to attend Western Republic College to study business.

She says of her FHA membership, "It has helped me realize the value of being a

She plans to attend a florist school this summer and West Texas State University in the fall to study child psychology.

FHA State Degrees Awarded

Goals in Future Homemakers of America reach a peak when a girl receives her FHA State Degree.

During the past 14 years some 60 Canyon girls have earned the highest state honors.

Mrs. Betty Graham was the first girl to earn the degree in Canyon. She received the degree in 1951.

This year 10 girls have applied for the state honor.

"Degree work--junior, chapter and state--have been pushed in Canyon High School chapter because I feel this increased evaluation on good citizenship in every area of a member's life is valuable.

"When a member puts down goals in home, church, school, community and chapter to work on, which will help her develop, then works to develop these goals, the girl can see whether she is the best type of citizen or not," explains Mrs.

Clara Long, FHA sponsor in Canyon.

A count has not been kept on junior and chapter degrees at CHS, but Mrs. Long estimates that the number would run between 500-600.

As the years pass, more girls will work on and receive their chapter, junior and state degrees. And with each award, Canyon and America will gain better citizens.

FHA Chapter Prexy Lauds Local School

CANYON HIGH School Future Homemakers of America president finds most of her free hours filled with work to be done for the chapter. Lee Ann Kelley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Kelley, will graduate in May after serving as president for a year. Lee Ann received the Plaque Award this year for her service to the local chapter.

"I don't believe there is another school in the Panhandle that has a better curriculum program than Canyon High School.

"In fact, I don't know of another bunch of teenagers who realize the importance of education as we do here, because it is stressed daily in our classes."

Miss Lee Ann Kelley, president of the FHA chapter at Canyon High, places strong emphasis on the need for higher standards in every department of high school programs.

"We are exposed to a university, we are exposed to related fields. Canyon students do think more of education, and I think we do take stronger subjects in school than a lot of schools around us. I think we are lucky," she continued.

This blond, 18-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Kelley, has fairly strong ideas as to her future and what she plans to do with her coming years.

And much of these decisions have been made because of her interest in homemaking and Future Homemakers of America.

Lee Ann was born in Amarillo in October, 1946. She began school in Canyon and will graduate in May.

Her years in school have been ones of leadership, not only in FHA but in other school organizations.

She is a member of the National Honor Society, and has been active in the Art Club and the Science Club.

But she has really found her place in FHA. She has served as fifth vice president of the chapter, recording secretary, first vice president, and now is serving as council president.

Lee Ann plans at least a year at Abilene Christian College with merchandising as a major field.

"At ACC I will receive religious development. I plan to get an education certificate in the field of clothing in case I want to teach someday," said the pretty student.

Through FHA, Lee Ann has found her way to clothing and interest in the homemaking field for the future.

"I think FHA is a marvelous organization, especially for a few. It develops leadership abilities and you learn to work and organize."

"The goals set up in FHA are very good, if a girl will take advantage of them," she continued.

She noted the importance of working toward a state degree.

"A state degree helps you realize why you do something and what it means to you," she emphasized.

Then Miss Kelley thought a moment and continued, "I don't think the organization is for any girl. You must want to work, or you don't get anywhere. You must work to accomplish anything for yourself in the organization."

What exactly does Lee Ann do for the organization aside from presiding at the regular meetings?

Lee Ann is a right hand for Mrs. Clara Long, FHA sponsor.

"I help with the state degree forms, I do much of the needed typing for Mrs. Long."

"I also try to help other girls develop their leadership qualities and help them assume responsibility in their jobs," she explained.

Lee Ann was in charge of the annual banquet, which was held recently. She had charge of decorations, program, entertaining, and overall planning.

But in her spare time she works in her church. This poised young woman donates one night a week to a Sunday school class at the Canyon Church of Christ.

"I teach the first grade on Wednesday nights. It is very interesting to see how they interpret the Bible stories and associate them with their lives," she said.

Work Toward Goal Taught

Dorinda Stroup, the 17-year-old daughter of Mrs. Audrey V. Stroup of 2201 5th Avenue, has been FHA treasurer, Daddy Date Night chairman, and 4th vice-president.

She is also a member of Future Teachers of America.

A senior, Dorinda lists business as her favorite subject.

She plans to attend McMurray College to study business.

"By being in FHA my life has been greatly widened," Dorinda says. "In FHA I have learned many things that will help me in the future. FHA has also helped me to learn how to organize a group and work efficiently with a group toward reaching a goal."

Miss Kiser Lists Music As Favorite

Carmen Sue Kiser, 18-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd T. Kiser, is another active member of Future Homemakers of America at Canyon High School.

The CHS senior, has served as organist for the chapter, and lists music as her favorite subject in high school.

She has served in the Foreign Language Club, band, choir and Rainbow Girls.

Miss Kiser, who lives with her family at 907 Sixth Avenue, plans to attend West Texas State University with a major in elementary education and a minor in music.

"We have a chance to show our creative abilities through our junior, chapter and state degrees. Each degree is a little more challenging than the one before. An FHA girl has something to be proud of when she receives one or all three of these degrees," are the feelings of Miss Kiser about Future Homemakers of America.

OVENS ARE always needing to be cleaned, and two homemaking girls are busy at work in the homemaking room at Canyon High School. Kathy Lindsey and Nelda Freeman were chosen for the task of cleaning the range.

Janie Fisher Has State Degree

Janie Fisher, the 18-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O.L. Fisher of 1900 9th Avenue, attended South Ward Elementary School in Dumas for the fourth grade.

She has served the Canyon FHA chapter as historian, recording secretary, and 5th vice-president.

Janie lists her favorite subject as art and is a member of the National Honor Society, the Future Teachers of America, the staff of the Eagles Tale, and the staff of the Soaring Wings.

She plans to study education at West Texas State University.

A senior, Janie says, "FHA has helped me grow into a rounded individual and it has helped me gain more self-confidence and poise. I have gained leadership ability as well as information to help make a homemaker of tomorrow."

She has received her State Degree.

Vocation homemaking education classes began in Canyon High School in 1923.

Mrs. Marshall Recalls Early Homemaking Here

The homemaking department at Canyon High School is equipped with every variety of appliance that goes into a modern kitchen.

It wasn't that way in 1923, when Mrs. R.E. Marshall of 902 Fifth Avenue was a student in the first homemaking department in Canyon schools.

The building that houses Canyon Junior High School had been opened that year.

"That was long before Canyon had natural gas," Mrs. Marshall recalled. "We cooked on two-burner oil stoves with a removable one-burner oven."

And only cooking was offered that first year. Mrs. Marshall said the homemaking students were often hungry when their class met the last period of the day:

"We tried to eat what we cooked in class. Sometimes we went home feeling a little sick."

But Mrs. Marshall, now famed cook and artistic seamstress, soon forged ahead of most students.

Mrs. Marshall's mother, a widow, had moved to Canyon from Snyder to take in boarders to earn money for her three daughters' education.

"I practiced my cooking on the boarders," Mrs. Marshall said.

Mrs. Frank R. Phillips was the homemaking teacher that year. She taught the girls to keep their stoves filled with oil and the wicks trimmed.

She even taught the girls to keep their cup towels smooth on the racks on each desk.

"And you know," Mrs. Marshall said, "it saves a lot of time in a busy life to keep things in order."

Then, as now, the former Faye Mangum kept busy. She was taking the 10th and 11th grade at the same time so that she could get a teacher's certificate and help with the family finances as soon as possible.

She recalled that she often heard the old courthouse clock strike midnight while she studied.

Once, she said, the class was to prepare a banquet for the school board. Her assignment was Parker House rolls. She was at the school before daylight to start her yeast rising.

The rolls turned out well, and Mrs. Marshall received an "A" for that section of the class.

The next year Mrs. Marshall enrolled in what is now West Texas State University to finish high school and take some college-level courses.

Her sewing talents were soon noticed, and an example of her hem-stitching on a cup towel and one of her buttonholes were sent to a state display.

"I haven't been able to make a decent buttonhole since," Mrs. Marshall laughed.

The family moved to Lubbock to take in boarders the next year. Mostly agricultural students, the boarders even had washing and ironing done for $32.50 a month.

Mrs. Marshall shortly had her teacher's certificate and was helping send her two sisters through Texas Tech. Two years later she was married, the result of a friendship from the Canyon homemaking class.

A classmate had also attended a Sunday school class with Mrs. Marshall. The classmate invited her home and introduced her to R.E. Marshall.

Now Mrs. Marshall makes the afghans, cross-stitched aprons, crocheted bed spreads, samplers, every variety of sewn handwork, that have been sold from coast to coast while waiting for the errands she frequently performs for her husband's busy garage.

And she finds time to make the chow-chow and watermelon preserves that are ordered by persons throughout the Panhandle.

Even the house she lives in is a constant reminder of the value of homemaking classes. S.B. Orton, the former owner, asked the Canyon homemaking students to design him an efficient house after his old home burned in 1933.

And Mrs. Marshall proudly

MRS. R.E. MARSHALL shows the first cup towel she hemmed. Made from a flour sack from her mother's boarding house, the towel was selected by her homemaking teacher at what is now West Texas State University for a state display. The lettering on the flour sack is still visible. Mrs. Marshall also shows her first embroidered work.

displays a watercolor painting by Mrs. Frank Phillips, who became one of Mrs. Marshall's best friends in Canyon.

Her handiwork is still done for the love of the work. She said that sometimes the extra money from sales was useful, but added that more profitable work could be found:

"I don't make 10 cents and hour, even from the afghans."

Canyon chapter of Future Homemakers of America is in Area I of the state.

FHA was founded officially June 11, 1945, in Chicago as a national organization.

In Texas, the state FHA organization is known as the Texas Association of Future Homemakers of America.

It has increased my knowledge of the management of a home."

FHA Prepares For Future

Carolyn Phillips, the 18-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Workman Phillips of rural Canyon, has served the Canyon FHA chapter on numerous committees.

She attended elementary school in Amarillo. She lists her favorite subject as government.

Carolyn, in addition to FHA, is a member of the Eagles Tale staff.

A senior, she plans to attend a business college.

She says, "FHA has helped prepare me for future life and given me experience in working with others. I have really enjoyed being in FHA and I will never forget what it has taught me and the friends I have made."

Enchilada Sauce

Future Homemakers of America at Canyon High School have found a delightful way to make their own enchilada sauce.

Heat in heavy skillet 1/2 cup salad oil, 1 medium onion, cut fine, 1 clove garlic, mashed, and 1 can tomato paste.

Simmer over low flame three minutes and add 1 1/2 cups water, 1 t. vinegar, 1/2 t. oregano, 1/2 t. salt, 1 t. sugar, 1/8 t. cayenne and 2 t. chili powder.

Bring to a boil, reduce flame, Simmer 15 minutes.

MELBA MCINTOSH, Jackie Hodges and Shirley O'Donald are behind the needle often in home economics classes at Canyon High School. The girls are taught maintenance of the machines as well as how to make clothes for themselves.

Canyon's Future Homemakers of America organization was begun in 1952.

Girls may pick careers in every field of homemaking.

Guacamole Salad

Recipe for Guacamole Salad, especially used by Canyon Future Homemakers of America, follows:

Peel and mash two ripe avocados. Combine with avocados three tablespoons of lemon juice, 1/2 teaspoon of salt, four tablespoon of onion, finely chopped, and a dash of Tabasco Sauce.

Mix thoroughly. Arrange chopped lettuce in nests on four salad plates. Mound avocado mixture in each lettuce nest. Sprinkle paprika on top of each salad. Garnish with tomatoes if desired.

Numerous Changes Facing Homemaking Of Tomorrow

"In years to come we will not teach in homemaking education courses what homes have been in the past, nor present, but we will instruct our girls to live efficiently in what homes will require in the future."

Mrs. Clara Long, Canyon High School homemaking instructor, made this statement in explaining possible changes which may occur in high school homemaking classes in future years.

The American home, like all other units of American society, is feeling the impact of social and technological changes.

New machines, new processes and new products have reduced the time required for carrying on some of the activities in the home, and at the same time have increased complexities of some of the management problems in daily living.

"Social changes we must recognize. Early marriages, many children having a one-parent home, mobility of our population, increases in group living, housing for the elderly, increase in population, increase in the per cent of population 65 years and over, widespread unemployment, demands for better trained workers, and an increasing number of women wage earners, all are part of our changing times," Mrs. Long pointed out.

The high school instructor also explained that "Women groups that have been surveyed have reported their biggest problems are found in the management of time, money and energy--and next area reported problem in personal relations within the home, at the office and in their social contacts. So the trend will likely increase and the homemaking education program will likely use a large percent of time in the classroom on these areas.

"Less emphasis will be placed on clothing especially in the construction area, and in the foods area less time will be spent on preparation as technology in processing foods is increasing.

"No one, of course, can be sure but reviews, previews and much surveying and evaluating is going on."

"A nation is as strong as its homes," and much needs to be done to strengthen American homes, says Mrs. Long.

FHA Girls Get $80 For Travel

Future Homemakers of America at Canyon High School will use some $80 received during the annual Randall County Junior Livestock Show-Sale for travel money during the year.

Mrs. Clara Long, FHA sponsor, said the money received from the sale of a pig by The Canyon News, will be used to finance several girls' trip to the state convention later in the Spring.

Recipe Given For Biscuits

Every homemaker should be able to make home-made biscuits, and Mrs. Clara Long keeps the girls in her homemaking classes abreast of the long-used recipe for mouth watering biscuits.

The first step in the process is making of the master mix. Recipe for 13 cups of the mix follows.

9 cups sifted all-purpose flour or 10 cups sifted soft wheat or cake flour.

1/3 cup double-acting baking powder

1 tablespoon salt

2 teaspoons cream of tartar

1/4 cup sugar

2 cups shortening which does not require refrigeration.

Stir baking powder, salt, cream of tartar and sugar into flour. Sift together three time into a large mixing bowl or into a large square of plain paper. Cut in shortening until mix is consistency of cornmeal. Store in covered containers at room temperature. To measure the mix pile it lightly into cup and level off with a spatula.

From here the true biscuit test begins. For a family size recipe of biscuits the recipe follows: 3 cups of mix, 2/3 cup of milk. This will give 18 2-inch biscuits. Add milk to the mix all at once, stirring 25 strokes. Knead 15 strokes on lightly floured board. Roll 1/2 inch thick. Cut. Bake on baking sheet in hot oven (450 degrees) for 10 minutes.

And presto, you have hot bread for your growing family.

National FHA Began In 1945

FHA was founded officially June 11, 1945 in Chicago as a national organization.

As a result high schools homemaking programs have been strengthened and enriched because of the inter-relationship of FHA and class experiences.

When the FHA "becomes of age" in 1966, they likely will be able to boast 600,000 members in 11,000 chapters in schools in the U.S., Puerto Rico, Virgin Islands and American army post schools.

The FHA has had a phenomenal growth and recognition which have been accorded the organization and may be attributed to these basic beliefs about ways of working:

Each individual member is important to the chapter and has a special contribution to make.

Groups working cooperatively may achieve many goals which individuals working alone cannot.

Teenage members and adults can work together, each gaining and learning.

Cooperative endeavors are more rewarding and in keeping with sound educational beliefs than competitive activities.

Individual and group experiences are selected on the basis of needs, interests and learning that will take place with special emphasis on self-evaluation.

Programs are more meaningful and stimulating to youths when they have the opportunity to give leadership and participation in planning.

DIANE JESTER, center, checks the rolls in the oven as Carmel Sue Kiser and Wanda Graham make other arrangements in the home economics lab at Canyon High School. All phases of cooking and food preparation are taught to the girls by Mrs. Clara Long.

WHICH PATTERN to choose? Nancy Stoval and Betty Pyror seem to ask the question as they flip through several pattern books in the homemaking room at Canyon High School.

Homemaking III Final For Girls

Homemaking III in Canyon High School is the final step at the high school level for girls taking home economics.

The course provides knowledge and learning experiences for girls 16 to 18 years old.

Opportunity is provided for the student to better understand the role of the homemaker in the family and community, and to assume increasing responsibility as a family member in relation to housing, foods, clothing health, nutrition and child care.

The student has an opportunity to explore vocations. Effort is made to assist students in developing attitudes and clarifying values necessary for effective participation in their families and communities.

The course is planned to include many areas. Part of the study plan includes management of time, energy, and money; care and repair of home furnishing and equipment; appropriate household furnishings, equipment and accessories; yard beautification; house planning for family living, and responsibilities of making a home.

Personal and family wardrobe is still another field, and brings in synthetic fibers, care and use of fabrics, and construction of more difficult types of clothing.

FHA Means Much To Members

The program of the Future Homemakers of America is an integral part of the homemaking education program. The program of work and projects provide further opportunities for students enrolled in homemaking to have experiences in planning and carrying out activities related to the home.

Training for leadership and effective home and community participation is part of the program.

In Texas, the state organization is known as the Texas Association of Future Homemakers of America.

Under the direction of the Homemaking Division, State Department of Education, the program with homemaking teachers as advisors to local chapters is developed and carried out.

The over-all goals of the Future Homemakers of America is to help individuals improve personal, family and community living, now and for the future.
